Today

A story written and illustrated by Belle Formica... and you!

I would like to acknowledge the Wurundjeri people of the Kulin nation as the Traditional Custodians of the land on which I created Today.

I pay my respect to Elders past, present and emerging, and all First nations people.

Thank you for caring for this beautiful land, water and sky for tens of thousands of generations, and sharing it with us.

Do you live on Wurundjeri land too, or somewhere else?

About Today...

Today I was feeling sad, until I looked around me and saw all sorts of wonderful things happening!

So I decided to make this book, but I need your help finishing it.

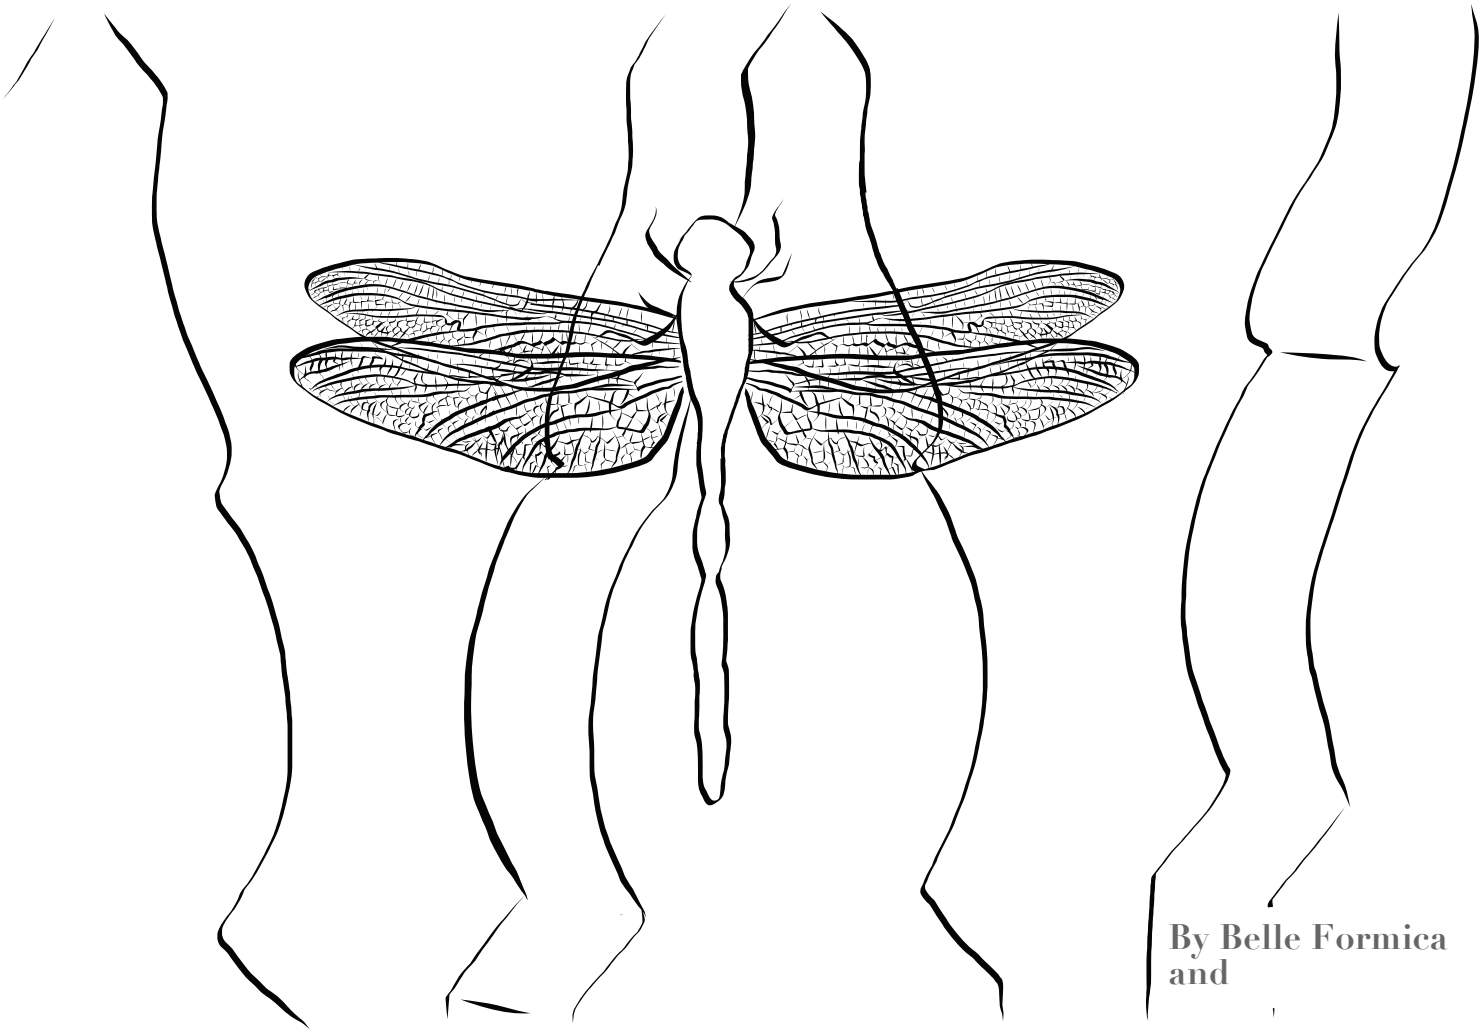
What it needs is more drawings, more stories and colour...
on every page!

I first shared Today in a workshop with the Artists for Kids Culture artsbus. The artsbus provide free art opportunites to children & teenagers aged 5-17 years old in Victoria, Australia. I'm now sharing Today with you to spread the joy of artmaking & storytelling. You can learn more about the artsbus at akc.org.au

arts bus
ARTISTS FOR KIDS CULTURE

There are many nice things happening in my garden today.

Today, a dragonfly landed on my fence. Now they're looking at me looking at them.

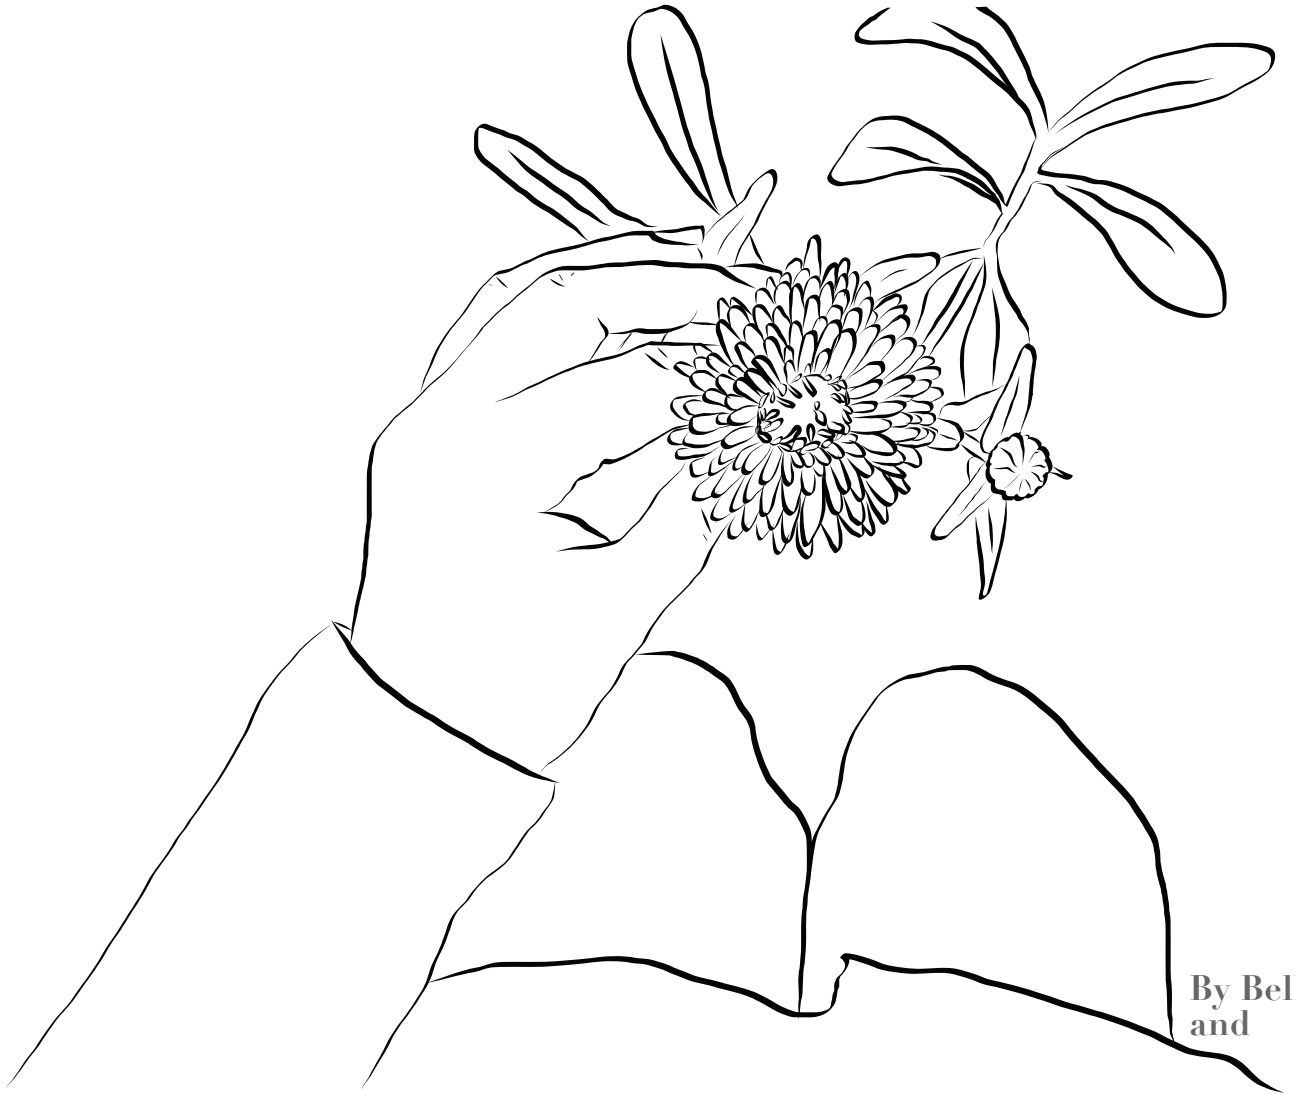


By Belle Formica
and

Today, my cat Mellow is enjoying our garden too.

By Belle Formica and

Today, this flower bloomed.
It's growing from the teeniest little crack in the ground.



By Belle Formica
and

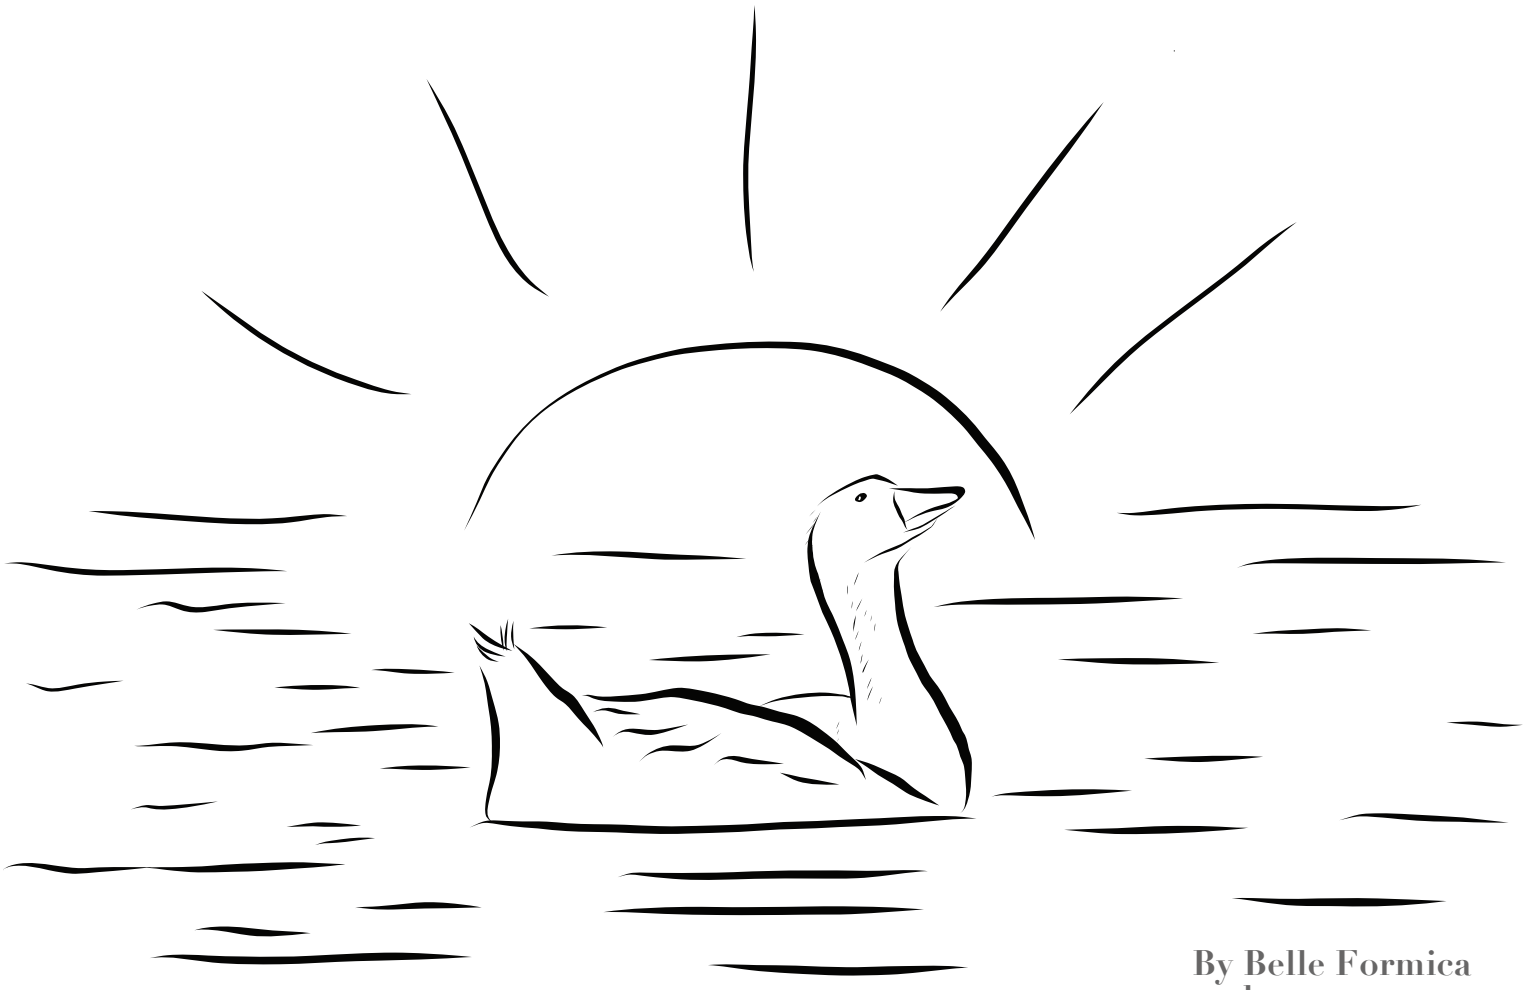
Today, I'm watching the butterflies and bees pollinate flowers, herbs and fruit trees.

By Belle Formica
and

Today, the blackberries are ready to eat.

By Belle Formica
and

Today, I followed the geese to the lake to watch the sunset together.



By Belle Formica
and

Today, I can see the stars twinkling over our home.

By Belle Formica
and

What nice things did you notice today?

By

By

By

By